大問4A Travel Together membership

メールを読み、次ページのQ23-Q25に答えなさい。

From: Laura Watson
To: Patrick Lin
Date: January 26
Subject: Travel Together membership

Thank you for your e-mail. My name is Laura Watson and I am with Travel Together, a travel agency in New York. In your e-mail, you said that you would like to know more about the benefits of the membership you recently joined. Membership holders can earn some points, and I am happy to explain what you can do with your points.

First, you can earn points when you make a reservation for hotels through Travel Together. These points can be used by you or your family members and can be spent within one year after you earn the points. For example, you can use the points to book a hotel for your next trip or to buy products sold on our website, such as travel goods.

Also, there is one more thing that I would like to remind you of. There has been a small change in the hotels you can use your points for. Before the change, you could use them for any hotels you could find on our website. However, you can no longer use them to book some hotels. So, please check the website carefully when you book a hotel.

 - 3 write a message to a hotel where he wants to stay.
 - 4 check the hotels where he can use the points to book.

大問4B 長文

本文を読み、次ページのQ26-Q29に答えなさい。

The Abilities of Trees

Like humans, trees have several abilities that are necessary to survive. This includes the ability to have memories. Humans have brains for memories, but trees do not. However, they can remember some events related to surviving. For example, some research shows that trees can remember long and hard times with little rain or situations caused by insects harmful to the trees. Then, they can use these memories to survive the next time something similar happens.

It is also believed that trees can feel a touch. For example, some trees react to the touch of an object, such as human hands. Even the light touch of a human finger on their leaves can affect their growth. In addition, some studies point out that trees react to sound, too. Sound creates air vibrations, a kind of shaking of the air, and trees can sense these vibrations of human voices or music. This could lead to changes in tree growth.

Another surprising ability that trees have is that they can sense each other. Perhaps people may have wondered why trees in the forest or small backyards somehow grow without touching each other too much. This indicates that each leaf on a tree can sense the other trees. They try to avoid other trees or leaves as they grow. With this ability, they do not harm each other.

Generally, we tend to think that plants do not have these abilities. However, now surprising abilities of trees have been found out. More research will be done in the future to examine how intelligent trees are, what kinds of parts are related to each ability, and so on. For a long time, trees have learned various abilities to adapt to their growing environment. Like trees, humans may have to change the way they live to adapt to the changing global environment.
