大問3B Sara's Letter to Grandma

手紙を読み、次ページのQ23-Q25に答えなさい。

January 3

Dear Grandma,

How are you and Grandpa doing? I hope you are both well and staying warm. The weather is so cold now. I missed you at Christmas this year. Thank you for sending a beautiful card and some money. I used the money to buy some nice paper and pens. When I use them, I always think of you.

I had a great winter vacation. Do you remember my friend Mia? You met her last year. Well, during the winter vacation, I went skiing in Yamanashi with Mia and her family. We traveled from Osaka to Yamanashi by car. On the way, we stopped in Nagoya. We went to Nagoya Castle and a train museum there. At night, Mia's mother bought us noodles for dinner. My noodles had fried beef in them. They were delicious.

We stayed in Nagoya for one night, and then we went to Yamanashi. On the first day in Yamanashi, I took a skiing lesson with Mia and her little sister. We fell over a lot, but it was a lot of fun. By the end of the trip, I could ski down the mountain really fast. We spent New Year's Eve in Yamanashi and went to a temple there on January 1.

I didn't see you and Grandpa at Christmas, so I hope I can come and see you both in the summer. Do you think I can do that? I really hope so.

Love,

Sara

大問3C 長文

本文を読み、次ページのQ26-Q30に答えなさい。

The Challenger Deep

Most people know the name of the highest place in the world. It is Mount Everest, and it is a mountain between Nepal and Tibet in Asia. But not many people know the lowest place in the world. It is called the Challenger Deep, and it is at the bottom of the Pacific Ocean. The Challenger Deep is about 10,984 meters deep in the ocean. It is to the south of Japan in a part of the Pacific Ocean called the Mariana Trench. This part of the ocean is about 2,550 kilometers long and 69 kilometers wide. The Challenger Deep is at the end of the Mariana Trench, near an island called Guam.

Scientists don't know much about the Challenger Deep. It isn't safe to go there because the water pressure is too high for most submarines. In the past, scientists thought that fish and other animals couldn't live in such a place. Also, there is no light from the sun, and the Challenger Deep is very cold. It is usually between 1°C and 4°C.

In 1960, two people traveled to the Challenger Deep for the first time. They went there in a special submarine. This submarine could move in areas with high water pressure. It took the people five hours to get to the bottom of the ocean, but they could only stay there for about 20 minutes. At that time, they saw two kinds of sea animals. Now, scientists know that animals can live in such deep places.
