大問4A Hiking Purple Ridge Mountain

メールを読み、次ページのQ23-Q25に答えなさい。

From: Olivia Davidson <service@mt.purpleridge.com>
To: Dylan Harley <d.harley@connect-ground.com>
Date: March 2
Subject: Information on hiking Purple Ridge Mountain

Dear Dylan, This is Olivia Davidson from the group that helps hikers on Purple Ridge Mountain. You asked for information about hiking the mountain in your e-mail. You said that you had seen the news on social media that the mountain had been closed for hiking. We also received the same report from other people. Please do not worry about it because the mountain is open to the public. So, you are welcome to enjoy hiking there.

Even though the mountain offers great views all year round, spring would be the best time for hiking. Snow will start to melt by then, and the weather will be amazing. In late March, the temperatures are perfect for hiking. We especially recommend hiking for a few hours in the afternoon. In early April, you may see some of the mountain's famous flowers as they are seen around that time.

If you are lucky, you can see some animals on the mountain. But there are a couple of rules we would like you to follow. If you see them, please do not feed them. You are allowed to take pictures of them, but you should not get too close to them when you do so. Please enjoy seeing them in nature. Thank you, Olivia Davidson

大問4B 長文

The Night Sky

It is believed that looking at the night sky is good for mental health. Experts say that it is helpful to look at the sky every night for even just ten minutes. In general, spending some time in nature can help people feel less stressed and more positive. This is especially true for people living in city areas. In the same way, looking at the night sky also has these effects.

The reason for these effects may be linked to the relaxing feeling people get when they look at the night sky. Experts say that experiencing this feeling is good for our mental health because it allows people to feel calm. Also, it is said that the experience of looking up at the sky with others can help people make stronger connections.

A researcher performed a test to get a better understanding of how the action was related to mental health. The study used a test with twelve questions to check how strongly people feel connected to the night sky. It was given to over 400 people. The test showed interesting results, such as the fact that people who said they felt a stronger connection with the night sky were happier and had more positive attitudes.

It seems clear that looking at the night sky is likely to make people feel happier. However, too much light in city areas at night makes it difficult for people to take advantage of the effects today. Another study showed that many people in areas with high levels of light at night felt less connected to the night sky. This means that solving the problem of too much light could help more people get the positive effects of the night sky.
