大問4A My Apartment

メールを読み、次ページのQ23-Q25に答えなさい。

From: Thomas Robbins <thomas-h-robbins@global-messenger.com>
To: Bella Young <bella-young-0505@eletter-world.com>
Date: July 24
Subject: My apartment

Dear Bella, I hope you are doing well. Thank you for introducing your friend to me. I understand that he is interested in my apartment, and I still have a room available. Please give him the information I describe below. He needs to pay 800 dollars a month, and it cannot be lower. I want him to use it for at least a year, but it can be changed if both he and I agree.

I am the only person living in this place now, so he will share the apartment with me. There are two bedrooms, a living room, a kitchen, and a bathroom. A refrigerator and a washing machine are already in the apartment. Each person will have one bedroom, and the other space will be shared. Also, the rooms are provided with a bed, desk, and chair. The place is quiet, and the neighbors are friendly.

I want to share what will happen next. If your friend is interested, I want to meet with him. So, I will set up a date for him to tour the apartment first. It takes about ten minutes to get to the apartment from the university by bus. Then, if he likes it, he will need to pay the first month's rent right before he moves in. Thank you, Thomas Robbins

大問4A My Apartment

(23) Why does Thomas Robbins send an e-mail to Bella Young?

1 To ask if she wants to move into his apartment.
2 To tell her that his apartment is not available.
3 To let her know that the rent has gone down.
4 To explain that he has a room for her friend.

(24) What is true about Thomas's apartment?

1 There are two people living in the apartment now.
2 There is no desk or chair in the bedroom.
3 The bathroom and kitchen are shared.
4 The apartment has no washing machine.

(25) If Bella's friend is interested in the apartment, he first needs to

1 call Thomas to learn more about the apartment.
2 go to Thomas's apartment for a tour.
3 meet Thomas at school for a discussion.
4 pay Thomas the rent for the first month.

大問4B 長文

本文を読み、次ページのQ26-Q29に答えなさい。

How Babies Learn to Talk

Babies begin to learn to speak at about six months old. The first thing they learn is to recognize individual words. This means they learn where individual words start and end. Then, they learn what the word means. For example, when they hear the word "apple," they try to understand what it is. Soon, they will recognize a round, red item as an apple. This may sound easy for adults. However, it is considered difficult for babies.

One thing that helps babies learn language is the adults around them. Adults often talk to their babies in a voice and language that sounds like a baby. This way of speaking, called baby talk, is a key part of babies' language learning. Scientists at a university studied the connection between baby talk and babies' brains. Their research found that the rhythm, a repeated pattern of sounds, in baby talk helped babies learn words quickly.

There is another thing that can be helpful for babies. From the time babies are born, their parents often sing songs to them, especially songs made for babies. In general, when people sing these songs, they say the words to a regular rhythm. This is different from the way adults talk to each other because they do not always speak in a regular rhythm. But such baby songs usually have a very simple, regular rhythm that helps babies recognize the words.

Adults' use of baby talk and songs has been important for babies' brains. As one professor says, the tradition of singing to babies and using specific rhythms in speech did not begin in modern times. In fact, it goes back a long way. Today, research shows that these activities are helpful for babies. In the future, more research may be performed on the connection between babies' brains and their language learning process.

大問4B 長文設問 Q26-Q29

前ページの本文を読み、最も適切なものを1つ選びなさい。

(26) What do babies learn first in language learning?

1 They learn to connect words to the things around them.
2 They learn to recognize what simple words, like apple, mean.
3 They learn to make sounds that do not mean anything.
4 They learn to know the beginning and end of each word.

(27) How does baby talk influence babies?

1 Babies understand how fast they should say words.
2 Babies learn how to say words with correct pronunciation.
3 The rhythm of baby talk helps babies learn language fast.
4 The rhythm of baby talk causes babies' brains to develop more slowly.

(28) Songs for babies have an advantage because

1 they make babies feel comfortable learning a language.
2 they help babies hear the names of things around them.
3 they use the same rhythm as adults' conversations.
4 they have a regular rhythm that allows babies to catch the words.

(29) Baby talk and singing songs to babies

1 have huge connections with babies' physical activities.
2 have both positive and negative influences on babies' hearts.
3 were done even a long time ago, according to an expert.
4 were considered more important than reading books.
