From: David Chapman
To: Louise Chapman
Date: July 28
Subject: Great news!

Hi Louise!

It was good to see you at your new house in Greenview last month. Thanks for taking me to lots of interesting places. I enjoyed the boat trip on the river the most. It was a great way to see the city. Did Mom and Dad tell you my good news? I'm going to study at Greenview College! I'll go there this fall to study science. I'm looking forward to starting classes and meeting lots of new people, but I'm a little worried about the lessons. I hope they aren't too difficult. I'll live in an apartment at the college for my first year. The college isn't far from your house, so I can see you more often.

Your brother,
David

From: Louise Chapman
To: David Chapman
Date: July 29
Subject: Congratulations!

Hi David,

That's great news! My friend went to Greenview College, and she said the teachers there were very kind. She also studied science. She has some old textbooks that she used at college. She doesn't need them anymore, so she wants to give them to you. She'll bring them to my house, so you can get them when you visit me next time. I think you'll need to take many things to college with you, so I'll drive you there in my car. Please tell me when you'll move there. I'll drive to Mom and Dad's house and pick you up. We can go out for lunch with Mom and Dad before you leave. I think they will be sad when you go to college.

See you soon,
Louise

大問3C 長文

本文を読み、次ページのQ26-Q30に答えなさい。

Gustave Trouvé

Gustave Trouvé was born in France in 1839. His father made money by selling cows. Trouvé enjoyed making things when he was a child, and his mother encouraged him to do that. When Trouvé was seven years old, he used an umbrella and other things to build an engine.

Trouvé went to an art college in the 1850s, but he didn't study there for long. He often got sick and couldn't study for class, so he stopped going to the college. After that, Trouvé got a job in Paris. His job was making clocks. He also had a special place in Paris. He invented many things there.

In the 1830s, an American man invented a machine called the telegraph. People used telegraphs to send messages. But telegraphs were big and difficult to carry. Later, Trouvé invented a smaller telegraph. People could carry Trouvé's telegraph around with them, so it was more convenient than earlier telegraphs. People started using Trouvé's telegraph to send messages during wars.

Trouvé invented many things, but he was especially interested in electric machines. He invented an electric engine that people could put on the back of small boats. People still use those engines today. Trouvé also invented a new kind of light. According to some people, he invented the first electric car, too. These things were not popular in the 1800s, but they are very useful now.

Trouvé died in 1902. He invented a lot of things during his life, but many people still don't know about him.
