Art Classes

Jay is a junior high school student. He likes math and science, but he doesn't like history. His favorite subject is art. Last Wednesday, Jay painted a picture of himself, and his teacher said to him, "That's very good."

Last Friday, Jay's class went to an art museum. In the morning, the students looked at the paintings in the museum. There were paintings of the sea and paintings of rivers and mountains, but Jay liked the paintings of people the best.

After looking at the paintings, Jay and his classmates ate lunch in the museum's restaurant. His friend Jane ate pasta and soup, and his friend Tony ate a hamburger. Jay ate a salad.
